

StarHazer III™

□ The StarHazer III has two very remarkable traits. First, its layer of haze is incredibly translucent. In a controlled environment, the particle is VERY even and very effective at enhancing beams of light while eliminating the smoky bar look. Second, is the residue factor. Close to no residue out of this machine. If you are dealing with very particular settings, whether they be a health-conscious singer, or very sensitive equipment, this machine leaves no footprint. Overall, while this machine's output or particle is not nearly as heavy as an oil-based machine, it picks up where the latter cannot perform. Your oil based machines will always be heavy on cloud-like haze and leave a residue of some sort. Heater based machines just don't have the translucent hang-time and instead look like your playing is a cigarette smoker's den. The StarHazer III is an ideal machine for a controlled, indoor environment for an even look without the heavy presence with the complete absence of residue."
